To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to offer my strongest recommendation for Westland Construction, based on our experience working with their team on a major exterior project completed in 2022.

As the owner of an all-women business, I've worked with many contractors over the years, and I can confidently say that Westland stands out. At no point during our project did anyone from Westland make me feel overlooked or underestimated while managing a construction project as a woman. Every team member was consistently professional, respectful, and supportive throughout the entire process.

From the very beginning to the final completion, their communication was exceptional—clear, timely, and organized. The project ran smoothly because I always knew what was happening, what was needed from us, and what to expect next. That level of communication and follow-through is rare, and it made a major difference.

Since that project, I've reached out directly to Renan for smaller jobs, and he has always responded quickly and helped us move things forward without delay. I also truly appreciate not having to chase multiple quotes—Westland consistently provides us with the best pricing, and their quality of work is exceptional every time.

Beyond the work itself, I admire the way Westland treats their employees and the culture they've built. Even following their team on Instagram has been genuinely inspiring and has influenced how I think about leadership and running my own business. They are a special team in many ways, and I'm grateful to have found a construction company I can trust completely.

I would recommend Westland Construction without hesitation for projects of any size. If you have any questions or would like additional details about our experience, I would be happy to speak further.

Sincerely,
